Second Series—Second Edition, price 9s. cloth."Mr. Robertson, of Brighton, is a name familiar to most of us, and honoured by all to whom it is familiar.
A true servant of Christ, a bold and heart-stirring preacher of the Gospel, his teaching was beautified and intensified by genius. New truth, new light, streamed from each well-worn text when he handled it. The present volume is rich in evidence of his pious, manly, and soaring faith, and of his power not only to point to heaven, but to lead the way."—Globe."We should be glad if all preachers more united with ourselves preached such sermons as those contained in this volume."—Christian Remembrancer."Very excellent sermons, full of earnest piety and love to God, and throwing light on many difficulties in Holy Scripture."—Morning Chronicle."They are very beautiful in feeling, and occasionally striking and forcible in conception to a remarkable degree."—Guardian.

Extracts of a Letter from Miss Johnson.

"Without Natural Affection."

How to Work.

This Magazine (Edited by Miss Whately, the Palace, Dublin) was commenced in September, 1853, to serve as the organ of the "Society for the Promotion of Female Education in China, Africa, and the East," the quiet and unobtrusive character of whose labours has hitherto rendered them comparatively unknown.It is intended that it should take a brief view of the progress of the Society, and it will be more particularly devoted to disseminating such information as may throw light on the subject of Female Education and Evangelization in Africa and the East. One of the principal objects of the Magazine is to supply useful Missionary information to the various Working Parties and other Associations at home, who kindly aid the efforts of the Society, and its pages will include extracts from the correspondence of the Agents of the Society at all the Foreign Stations, with the latest intelligence of interest, notices of work received or sold, and of the places where it is most in demand.The diffusion of such information has already been of valuable service to many of the Auxiliary Associations, and a great means of encouragement to the Society in the prosecution of its labours.As besides the advantages of making the Society known, the surplus profits of the Magazine, when all expenses are paid, will be devoted to forwarding its objects, those who are interested in a cause so important are earnestly solicited to lend their aid, by promoting the circulation of the Magazine as widely as possible.Dublin: W. CURRY and Co., 9, Upper Sackville-street.

Expository Thoughts on the Gospels,

FOR FAMILY AND PRIVATE USE,

By the Rev. J. C. Ryle, B.A.

"The Author's design in this work is not to expound every verse of the Gospels. He has thought it better to select three or four leading points in each passage, and to dwell exclusively on them. He has tried in each 'Exposition' to place himself in the position of one who is addressing a mixed company, and 'has but a short time.' For this reason he has constantly left unsaid things that might have been said, and endeavoured to dwell chiefly on the things needful to salvation. Brevity and thoughtfulness have been his great aim."Publishing in Monthly Numbers, now ready, Parts 1 and 2, 6d. each. W. CURRY and Co., 9, Upper Sackville-street, agents for Ireland.Dublin: Printed by WILLIAM S. PURDON and EDWARD PURDON, at No. 23, Bachelor's-walk, parish of St. Mary, for the Publisher, WILLIAM CURRY, 9, Upper Sackville-street, Dublin.
